--Sketched by Betty Wand--

In gratitude for the sacrifices that he has made for us, we, the members of the Class of 1971, are proud to dedicate this yearbook to Mr. Duane W. Kuhl. Somehow he always managed to see the bright side of everything--from catastrophic science experiments to riotous Junior Class meetings. He freely gave his time and his knowledge, so that we, in turn, might make some contribution to mankind.

Only a year ago twenty-one doubtful juniors were wondering how they were ever going to make enough money to go on a class trip. Their worries were unjustified, though, because those juniors ended up their senior year with money to spare.

As freshmen they ran the coat and hat check at basketball games, and throughout their sophomore and junior years they worked hard on bake sales, candy sales, and anything else that would help them pick up a few dollars. Yet, at the end of their junior year, they found their treasury balance to be quite low, as a result of the prom that they had sponsored for the Class of 1970.

Throughout grade school and high school years, different teachers had remarked, "This class will never make it as an organized, productive group." Fortunately, the members of the Class of '71 proved them wrong, and also proved to themselves that they could succeed. The class members worked hard mowing grass at the Zion Cemetery during the summer following their junior year, and at last their financial worries were over.

With just a few projects, such as a teen dance, concessions at basketball games, and selling senior candy bars, they had earned enough money to sit back and really enjoy their final year at EHS.

ACTIV

TIES

The Elizabeth Community Fair has long been a source of enjoyment for Elizabeth High School students. This year, however, it appeared that spirits might be dampened by moisture.

But, the parade went on, despite rain, and people seemed to enjoy it. The Senior Class participated by running through a car, painted with slogans, and a manure spreader with the slogan, "Seniors Spread Joy Wherever They Go!"

The Elizabeth High School Band, under the direction of Mr. Sodt, marched in their new uniforms, which looked very sharp. Many students also rode horses or drove farm equipment in the parade.

Later, everyone headed for the fair grounds, because the sun was shining through. The dunking booth was a big attraction, especially when two Elizabeth faculty members, Mr. Burgett and Mr. Speer, volunteered to be dunked.

Sunday brought more rain, and the final-day activities were all but stopped. In the evening, however, a rock group, Friendship Incorporated, provided entertainment.

In spite of the rain, a good time was had by all who attended the 1970 Elizabeth Community Fair. Many students are looking forward to next year--and hoping for better weather!

"Oliver! . . . Oliver! . . ."

"One Boy—Boy for Sale!"

Friday and Saturday nights, March 19 and 20, 1971, the back-streets of London, England, were brought to the stage of the Elizabeth High School gymnasium as students presented their second-annual musical production. The show was "Oliver!", based on the novel, "Oliver Twist," by Charles Dickens.

It was cold with freezing drizzle in Elizabeth on opening night, and there was worry that the bad weather would discourage people from attending. At 8 o'clock the curtain opened to the strains of "Food, Glorious Food," while outside the dreary night continued. But inside, more than 600 people had turned out, and the warmth of the story of Oliver Twist quickly captured the hearts of all of them.

Most people in the audience had come to last year's successful production of "Oklahoma!" and were hoping that this show would be even better.

"He's Going Cheap!"

"Consider Yourself Well In!"

"It's a Fine Life!"

Leading the 59-member cast to a most memorable performance was Herby Wilson as the orphan boy, Oliver Twist. His warmth and delightful innocence in singing "Where Is Love?" brought a tear to many eyes.

"... Fine Life!"

Although Mr. Bumble-the-Beadle (Jack Rife) threatened to pinch the curvaceous Widow Corney (Diane Ellinor), they were married before she had a chance to scream. Jack was so changed by his costume, his own father did not know him! And the widow sent the audience into reels of laughter every time she moved.

The Artful Dodger was artfully portrayed by Jerry Hatfield, who fit his part from top-hat to singing voice. Fagin (Donald Dittmar) looked very much the pick-pocket, and he and the Dodger contributed a lovable deviousness to the bouncy shenanigans of the den of thieves.

Marcia Atz, as Nancy, and Connie Haas, as Bet, added much to the play as bar-room beauties, with smiles on their faces and songs on their lips.

Bill Sikes, played by Clark Westphal, gave the show a touch of terror. His rowdy, villainous character balanced out the good in Oliver.

"That's How It Goes!"

During the song-filled finale, the young actors received a standing ovation from appreciative audiences both nights. This year's production topped "Oklahoma!" in attendance--about 1,150 people attended "Oliver!", 50 more than last year's record total. And advance ticket sales alone paid all the show's expenses.

More than just a Senior or Junior Class play, "Oliver!" included the talents and efforts of a whole high school, brought together in working toward one common goal. This high degree of participation is perhaps the show's biggest achievement.

In "Reviewing the Situation," Elizabeth High presented two well-polished performances of "Oliver!", which were received with warmth by two more than generous audiences.

Future Farmers of America— "Learning To Do, Doing To Learn,"

Robert Bernard, vocational agriculture teacher at EHS since 1964, was cited as the 1970 County Conservation Teacher of the Year.

"Earning to Live, Living to Serve" --the motto of the Future Farmers of America (FFA) is well-followed by EHS chapter members.

The activities of the organization this year were selling seeds, running a pop machine in the ag shop, holding an assembly on the environment, and establishing and displaying a corn population wheel at the Albert Holland farm.

The FFA was very active in judging contests. Bob Haun topped the individual scoring at the Livestock

Judging Contest held at Rockton, Illinois.

The chapter also sent Donald Dittmar to Kansas City, Missouri, to participate in the chorus at the National FFA Convention held in October. The chorus was made up of 101 members from 36 states. To qualify, Donald went to the Illinois State Convention to sing in the state chorus. There he was chosen to be one of five members from Illinois to sing in the national chorus.

uture Homemakers of America—

Toward New Horizons" . . . "Lighting the Way"

"This motto is a challenge. It reminds members that their contributions to home and community life today will influence the kind of homes they have tomorrow, and that the family life of members will influence the community and the world."

Members of the Future Homemakers of America (FHA) attended the fall rally held at Dakota, Illinois; sponsored a roller skating party; and organized the Christmas caroling party in cooperation with the FFA boys.

Money-making projects included a bake sale-rummage sale. Monthly meetings featured such topics of interest as a makeup demonstration presented by a representative of the Capri Cosmetology School of Dubuque.

The purpose of FHA is to help individuals improve personal, family, and community living. Members work toward making good homes for their families. Interest toward economic careers and related occupations is encouraged.

Evie Smuck, EHS senior, was named Betty Crocker Homemaker of Tomorrow. The annual award is presented by General Mills for performance in a written examination.

Speech Club—

Vicki Tippett Competes at Sectional

Speech Club, which began only last year, is a growing organization with great expectations for the future.

At district speech contest held February 13 at Freeport, Vicki Tippett, a freshman, placed second in final rounds; her category was a comedy reading.

Other EHS students participating in the contest were Lon Francomb, oratorical declamation, fifth in round two; Beth Hein, original oration, sixth in round two; Roger Appleby, extemporaneous speaking, fifth in the final round; Cynthia Arnold, original monologue, fourth in round one; and Mary Jo Francomb, verse reading, sixth in round one.

Members of Speech Club, with their coach, Mr. French, accompanied Vicki Tippett to the sectional speech contest held February 27 at East Moline. Although Vicki did not place in this competition, she is the first EHS student to qualify for sectional.

The Library Club is composed of students who are interested in library services and who function as library aides. The duties they perform include working at the circulation desk, shelving books and shelf-reading, assisting with the cataloguing and processing of new books, filing, arranging bulletin board displays, and conducting the paperback book sales. The members also assist in the work of the elementary library.

Student use of the library materials has increased this year. One reason for this trend is the greater number of outside readings assigned by teachers. In the high school library, current circulation figures show a forty-three percent increase over last year's total. For the elementary library, the rate of growth is approximately twenty-seven percent. In addition to books checked out by students, 548 volumes were sent to elementary and secondary classrooms on short-term loan at various times during the year. The fact that students purchased $256.50 worth of paperback books indicates that they are interested in reading for their own pleasure as well as for assignments.

At present, the total number of volumes in the high school collection is 4,933. The grade school library houses 4,411 books. Of these holdings, 511 were acquired by the libraries in 1970-1971. The school subscribes to thirty-two periodicals which are available to students using the libraries. To serve research purposes, back issues of magazines are retained in a chronological file for five years.

Each year new books are added to the libraries to supplement the school curriculum. In 1971, 117 volumes were ordered, to be purchased with federal money. These funds are provided annually through the ESEA Title II Program. Another important addition was the two new shelving units which were installed in the high school library in September, 1970.

What, a Yearbook Without an Editor?

"Traditionally the yearbook is headed by a senior editor, but due to a lack of interest on the part of the members of the Senior Class, the 1971 TERRAPIN has been largely the work of underclassmen. No editor-in-chief was named.

"Sales this year were at a record high of 185 books, and advertising also set a new record high.

"Kathleen Albrecht, Kathy Altfillisch, Marcia Atz, Chris Chapin, Donald Dittmar, Peggy Haun, Nancy Philpot, Cheryl Potter, Jack Rife, Joan Thiltgen, Marleen Trader, Judy Wand, and Denise

Wilson are among the many students who worked on the Terp Staff. My special thanks also to the editors pictured on this page."

Girls' Athletic Association—

It's a Great Way To Get Away from It All!

Members of the Girls' Athletic Association (GAA) met once a week after school and participated in a variety of sports and activities, including softball, soccer, football, volleyball, basketball, cycling, track and field events.

The girls took part also in a slumber party held in the gym, a skating-sledding party during the winter, swimming at the Freeport YWCA in the spring, and a track meet at Savanna.

At the end of the year, pins are given to the GAA members who have earned enough points during the year. To raise money for these pins, the organization sold sweaters with "Elizabeth Terrapins" imprinted on them.

"The entire squad made many sacrifices and worked extra-hard this year during practices as well as during games. It took a lot of courage and a great deal of pride to keep coming back after losing, but the boys who had the 'gut' to stick it out proved to me, the fans, their parents, their friends, their opponents, and themselves to be real winners."

Steve Trost (Manager), Mr. Campbell (Coach), Ted Johnson (Manager), Charles Hoppe, Joe Lieb, Bob Hoppe, Jeff Walker.

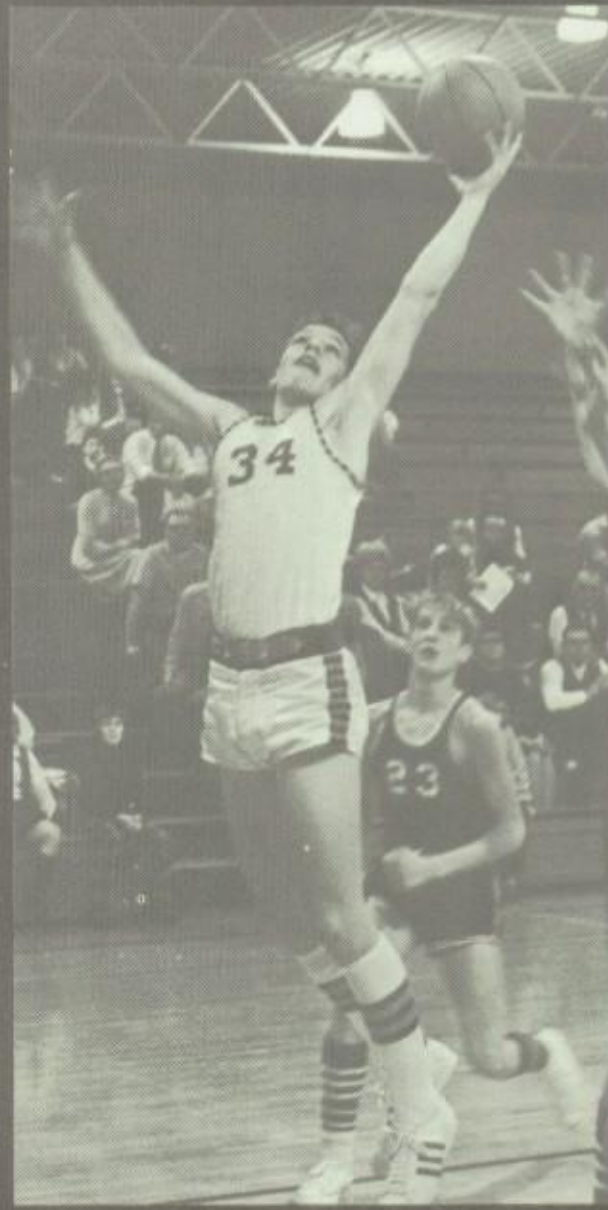

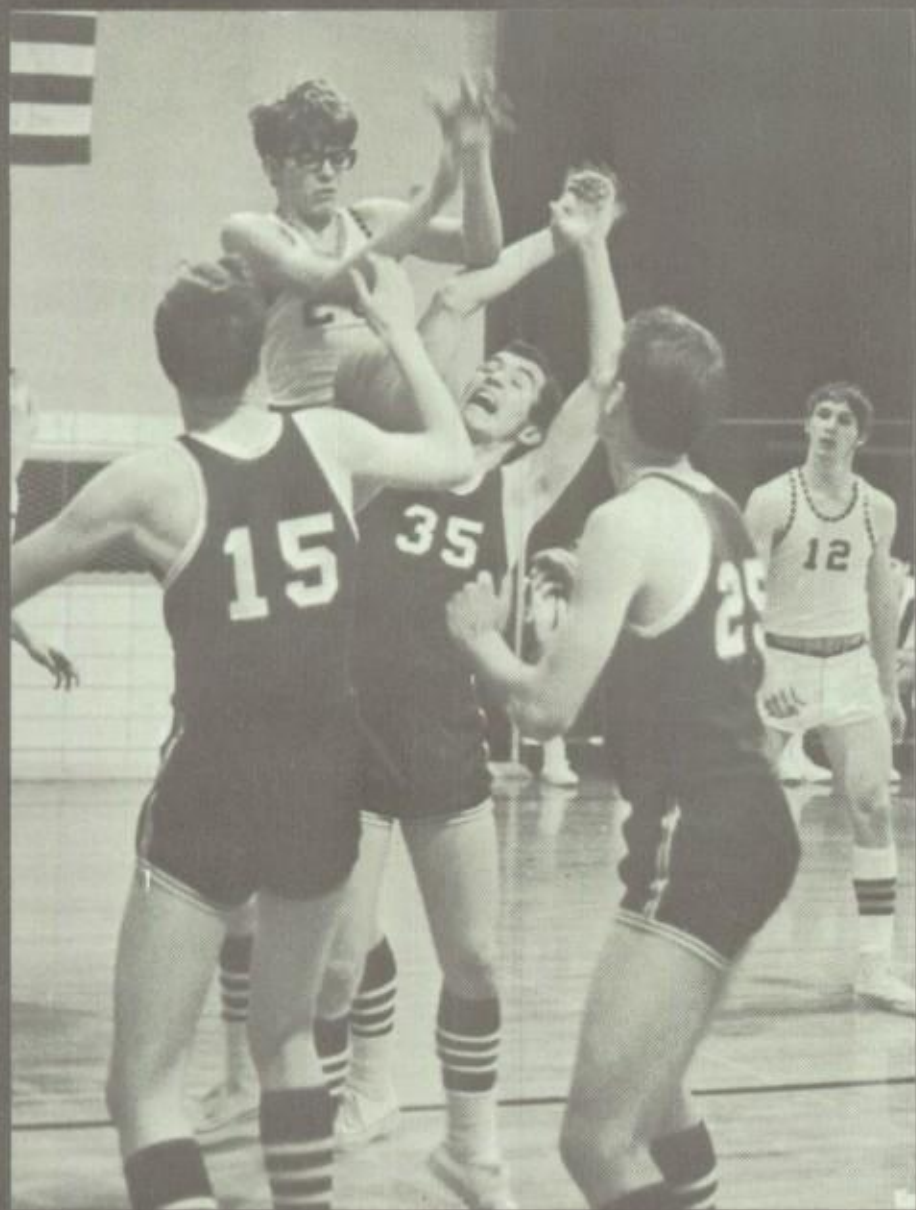

Junior Charles Hoppe compiled the best free throw record with 41 of 59 attempts for a .695 average. Senior Dennis Altfillisch was top rebounder with 178.

Basketball— Leads Terps

"I believe these boys deserve special recognition and praise for representing EHS. Their dedication to the game of basketball should pay off in the future. It was rewarding to me to have worked with this group of young men. The next few years should be promising ones for the Elizabeth Terapins."

It's Curtains for the Eighth Grade . . .

One of the main events at the beginning of the year was a field trip to the Chicago Brookfield Zoo. Then, after Christmas vacation, a Learning Festival was held, and about $100 was raised, to be added to a fund for the purchase of new curtains for the grade school gym.

At the second-annual Science Fair, held April 21, first prize winners were Patti Trost and Dianne Brown of the seventh grade, and Penny Price of the eighth grade (pictured, lower right).

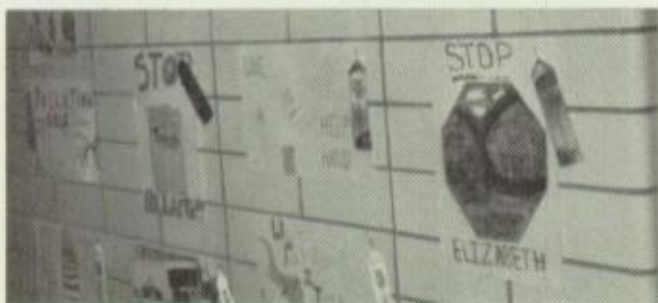

Other activities included the Art Fair (lower left), arranged by art teacher Carol Peterson; a trip by the Patrol Boys to Chicago to watch the Bulls host the San Diego Rockets, sponsored by the Chicago Motor Club; and the Junior High Newsletter, published throughout the year by Sandra Stuckwisch (Chairman), Barbara Berlage, Sharon Guenzler, and Penny Price.

Another class trip to Chicago marked the year's end, with stops at O'Hare International Airport, the John Hancock Building, and the Museum of Science and Industry. Graduation was May 28, 1971.

Epilogue

by
Jerry Murray

The time is early evening, and the sun's begun to set.
Its rays of knowledge have flashed brilliantly,
Outstanding, in the deep, vast darkness of ignorance.
So long have they labored and toiled,
Striving for direction, for meaning, for a future.

The hours and days were long and tedious;
Sometimes eagerly, often hesitatingly, their minds absorbed the light.
The prodding and coaxing, the bantering and bargaining--
All have merged to lift the shadow from their minds.
Someday, in a fleeting moment of memory, the past will return to the present.

The sun will soon set, but the light shall remain.
Old Mother Time will wash all memories from their minds;
But the rays of knowledge, if nurtured, will neither wither nor die.
From this font of life, there will spring
A bright, new sunrise, lighting the way for a bright, new day.
